Pencil portraits and semi-realistic studies, [2024-2026]

Context

Drawing I do outside any brief. These are pencil portraits and semi-realistic studies, drawn from reference to practise how faces, light and detail hold together.

My role

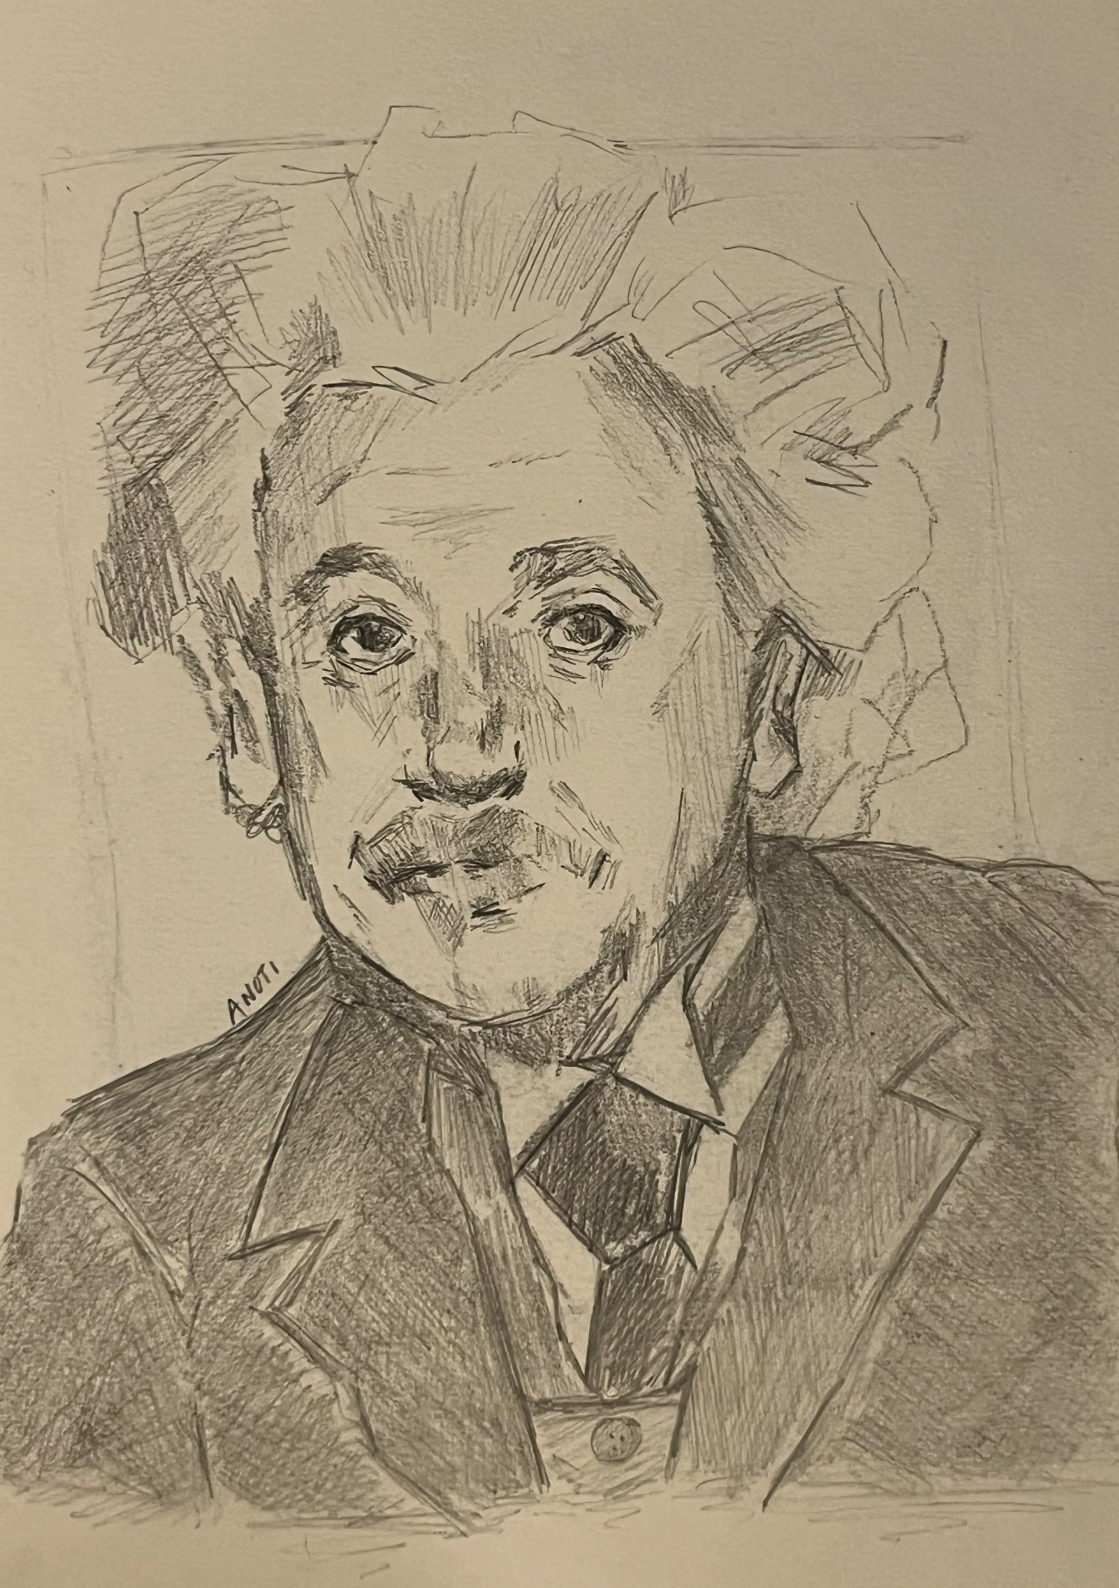

Everything: choosing the references and drawing each piece in pencil.

Process

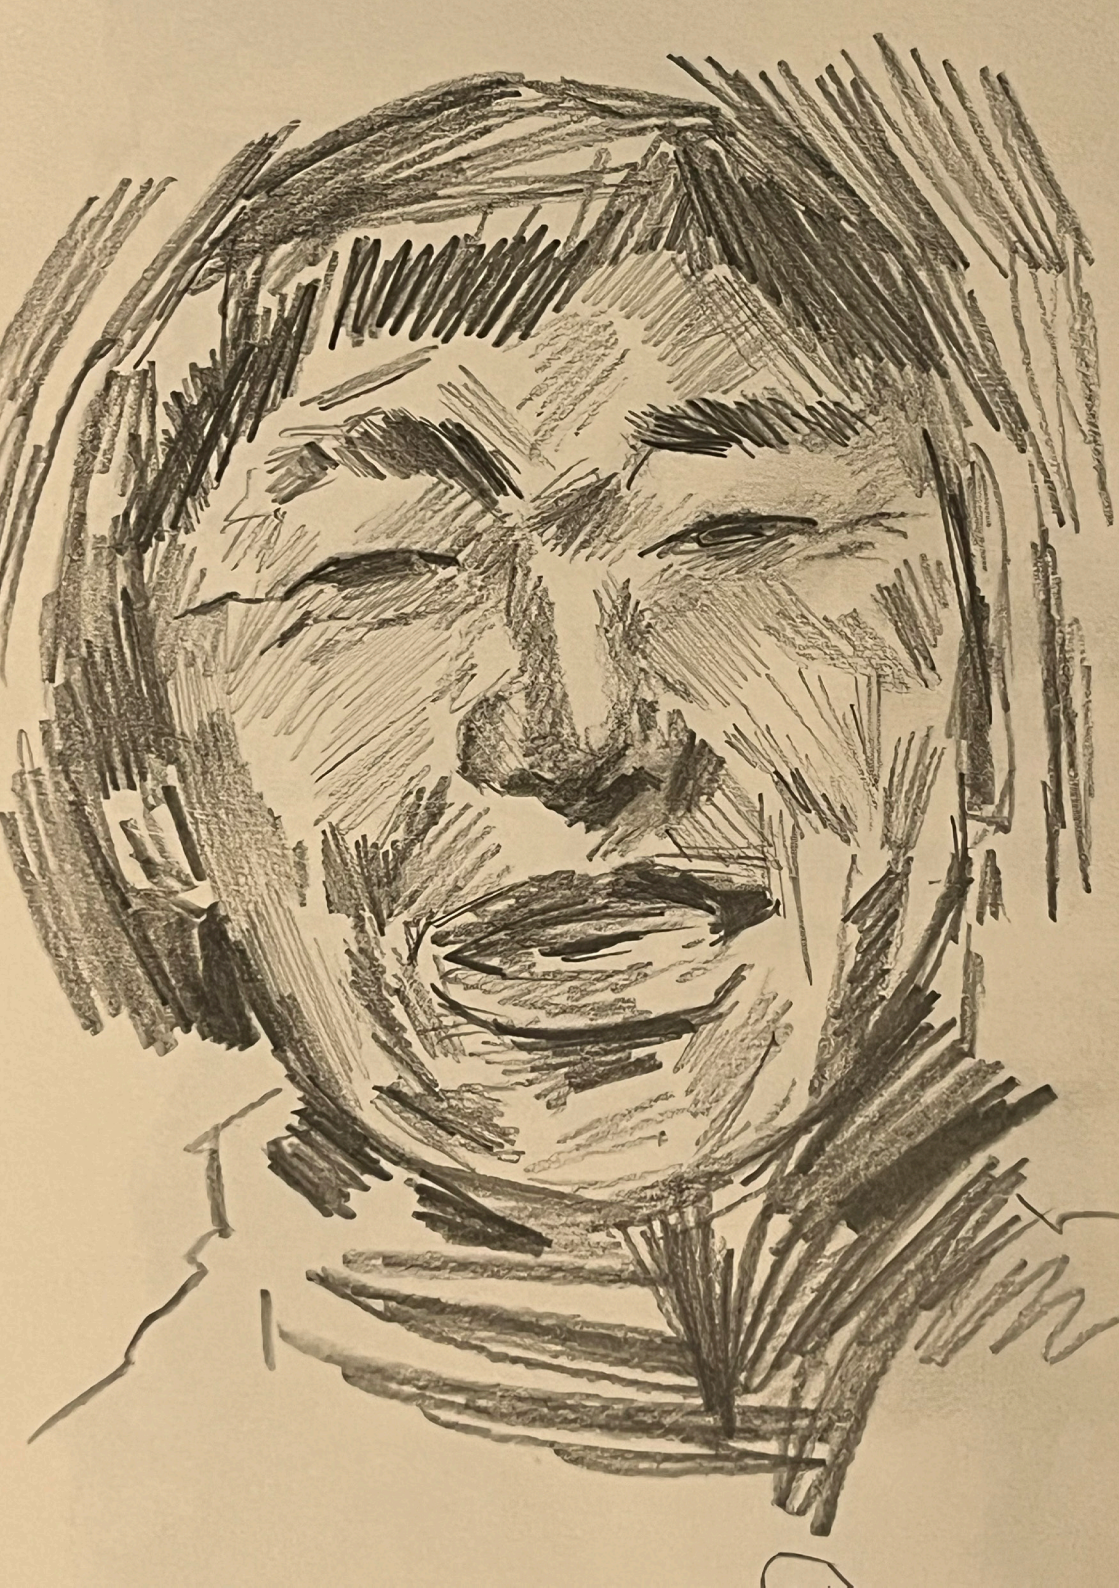

I work from reference photos, building the likeness through proportion, then layering tone to get depth, texture and expression.

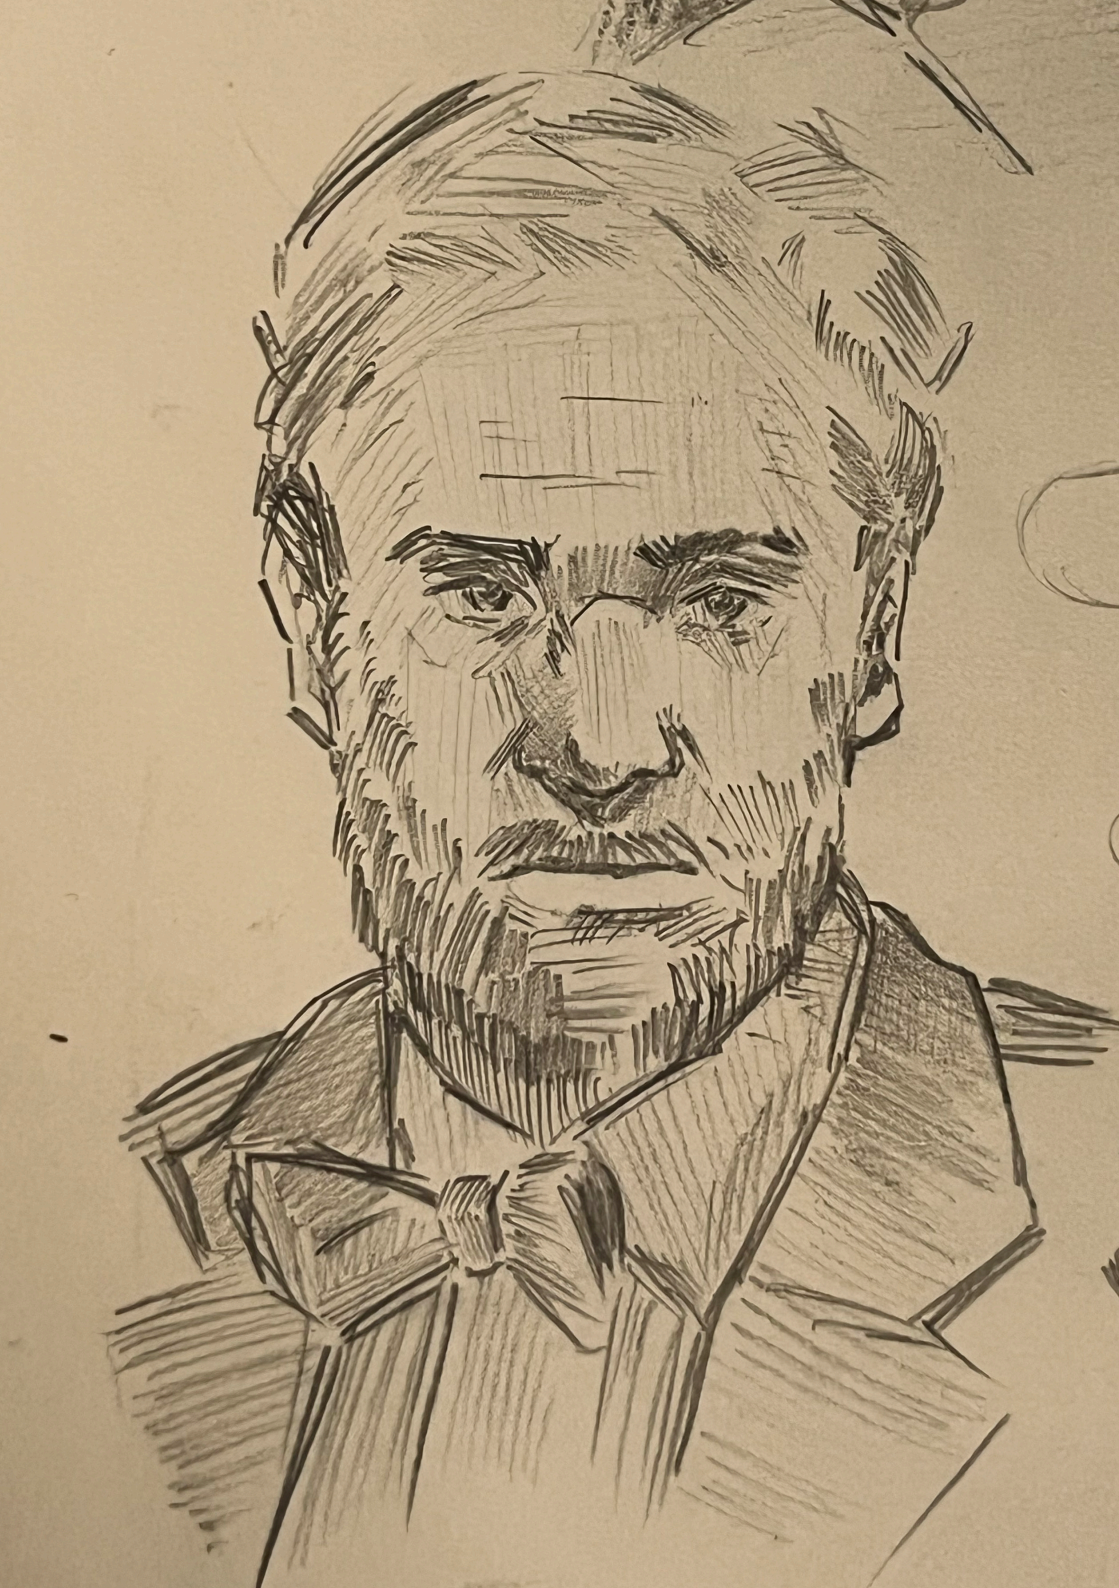

Outcome

A small selection of 7 portraits that show the patience and observation behind my illustration and character work.
