Magical Town – Concept Art

2026, Character and environment concept art

Context

This project involved developing artwork based on an existing story concept created by another student. Set in a seemingly ordinary town with hidden pockets of magic, the story follows Pono, an aspiring chemist who works at a mysterious local apothecary. I worked with the given narrative and visual direction to interpret the world through character and environment design, bringing its warm, eccentric and magical atmosphere to life.

My role

Visual interpretation, character design, environment design and digital illustration.

Process

Working from the original concept brief, I explored the visual characteristics of the apothecary and its owner. The brief described the apothecary as warm, cluttered and homely, with unusual furniture, bottles and ingredients. I used these details to develop the interior environment, focusing on its cosy yet eccentric character. I also created a character sheet for the apothecary owner, translating her mysterious, reserved and eccentric personality into a visual design. Throughout the process, I followed the established story and colour direction while developing my own interpretation of the visuals.

Outcome

The project resulted in a character sheet of the apothecary owner and a concept art illustration of the apothecary interior. It allowed me to work within someone else's creative vision while developing my ability to translate an existing narrative into character and environment designs through illustration, colour and visual details.
